HESEHUS A/S

Number of openings: 1

Advertisement publish date: 21/11/2018

Application deadline: 16/01/2019

Start date of employment: As soon as possible

Hesehus develops ambitious ecommerce solutions on the .NET platform and is looking for a skilled Frontend Architect, who wants to set the direction for frontend development and draw the architecture for our solutions.

What are we offering?

You will become a part of one of the largest developer environments on Funen, that consist of more than 50 dedicated and highly qualified developers and architects.

As a Frontend Architect you will become part of the architect team and will be responsible for setting the direction for the frontend development in Hesehus. You will work specifically with specification, implementation and continuous development of e-commerce solutions for some of the most interesting and ambitious customers. As Frontend Architect you will draw the architecture for our solutions and ensure that complex flows are carefully implemented. You can expect a dynamic and challenging workday, where your technical knowledge and competences will be put into play.

As a member of our team, you will be part of a vibrant and challenging environment consisting of highly qualified and committed colleagues. Our commitment shows in the professional work with a strong focus on knowledge sharing and development. Hesehus Academy Fridays give you room for immersion and free play to try out new technologies. We also place great value on social arrangements both in our teams as well as across the organization. We cherish a healthy, informal and fun working environment.

Your primary tasks:

- Knowledge sharing about frontend architecture and technical dialogue with the developers and software architects
- Setting the standard for strong frontend code
- Definition of best practices principles
- Definition of the frontend interface
- Knowledge sharing about methods, frameworks and approaches to frontend development
- Ensure that the architectural model meets Hesehus' high quality standards and that the right technological decisions are made on each project
- Participate in customer meetings/workshops and preliminary analyzes, including clarification of needs and functionality with customers

Estimation and break down of projects to use cases and wireframes

Code "janitor": bugfixing, code reviews and feedback to the developers

Explore new trends and provide proof of concept on new technologies before tested on customer projects.

Who are you? You have a higher education within IT and a passion for frontend development combined with years of experience as a full-stack developer or architect. It is a prerequisite that you have experience with JavaScript frameworks like React, as well as technologies like Typescript and Bootstrap. You have experience with app development (eg. React Native or Cordova) and know how to work with dynamic pages such as .NET MVC. In addition, you have an understanding of server side functionality and you also know how to connect frontend and backend. You are strong in architecture models like Clean Architecture, DDD and N-tier.

We emphasize that you have professional pride in your work and constantly strive to improve and develop yourself and others. We expect to be challenged by your passion and curiosity for new technologies. It is important that you are business oriented and can translate the customers' business needs into technical solutions. If you are familiar with the .NET platform and have experience developing ASP.NET and ASP.NET Core web solutions, as well as domain knowledge within B2C and B2B e-commerce, you are ahead in points.
